

NO EXCUSES!

From October 2007, the Minimum Wage is

£5.52 per hour.

It's your time and your labour and you are entitled to nothing less.

If your employer is paying you anything less, he is breaking the law.

What can you do if you are not receiving the proper wage for your job?

Contact the Trade Union Movement.

It's our job to make sure that your job works for you.

There are unions for all sectors of the economy and trade union activists in your area.

For information on how to join a trade union and which trade union to join, contact:

YOUR UNION – YOUR RIGHT

All workers in Northern Ireland, regardless of nationality, have rights at work protected by law. These include:

- A written statement outlining the terms of employment
- A minimum wage
- Specified hours of work and holiday entitlements
- Protection from unfair dismissal
- The right to join a trade union

Trade unions represent and defend the rights of their members:

- Union membership is the best way of securing your rights at work.
- Your union will protect you from unfair treatment.
- Your union will negotiate a fair wage and good working conditions.

Join us today to ensure that your rights are secured.

To get further information about your rights and on how to join a trade union, visit our website at:
