2010 - 2011

Introduction

Welcome to PETAL, a new and dynamic equality training programme for trade unions. The programme will be delivered by equality specialists including the Equality Commission and will run between 2010 and 2011. Participants can attend certified training programmes on a range of issues under six areas:

1. Equality law seminars
2. Key employment and equality issues for union representatives
3. Disability Champions
4. Equality mainstreaming
5. Mental health and stress in the workplace
6. Other dates for your diary

The aim is to equip you to promote the law and best practice in the workplace. The topics addressed by this programme reflect the themes and priorities identified by Equality Committees and members.

The training will also ensure that union representatives are up to date with developments in the complex area of equality and employment law.

Attendance can be used by learners as credit in respect of their Continuing Professional Development (CPD).

All training sessions are based on a key learning aim and associated objectives and focus on specific themes. In addition and in recognition of the hours of training, learning and application of equality skills, each participant will be provided with a folder to gather evidence of their CPD.

Certificates will be presented on June 8, 2011.

We hope you enjoy...

1. Equality Law Seminars

Equality Law seminars will keep representatives abreast of developments in European and Domestic Law, which impact primarily on the workplace. The sessions cover new and amendments to existing legislation, key decisions taken in courts and the impact of those decisions on Industrial and Fair Employment Tribunals. To facilitate greater flexibility please note that some sessions will be held in the evening.

Sinead Mulhern, a qualified solicitor and equality trainer, will be leading the sessions. She is a former Chief Legal Officer of the Equal Opportunities Commission for Northern Ireland. Sinead has specialised in employment law over many years and her particular area of interest is discrimination and equality law. She has provided legal advice and training across the private, public, statutory and voluntary sectors to a wide range of organisations on all aspects of employment equality law. Sinead has also worked closely with the trade union movement over many years.

2. Key Employment and Equality Issues for the Union Representative

A bespoke, Continuous Personal Development accredited, modular training programme developed for trade union representatives by Congress, the Equality Commission for Northern Ireland and the Labour Relations Agency.

Learning Aim

This programme highlights some of the key issues faced by union representatives today. It focuses on the provision of guidance to support policy development and review as well as practical advice on managing individual cases.

By the end of the programme participants will:

- Be aware of the employment and equality legislative framework affecting the workplace,
- Have considered some key issues for union representatives including bullying and harassment in the workplace and the management of absenteeism,
- Have an understanding of the employment tribunal process.

3. Disability Champions Forum

A newly developed forum in partnership with the Equality Commission for Northern Ireland launched in May 2010.

The key aim of the forum is to support the Disability Champions and other trade union representatives with a particular interest in the area of disability.

The forum will provide the opportunity for members to receive regular updates on developments in legislation, share best practice, access advice and guidance and network with other representatives and agencies. Each meeting will highlight a topical issue for discussion.

If you are interested in becoming a Disability Champion the next course is scheduled for five Wednesdays starting on January 19, 2011. Contact Clare Moore at Congress or clare.moore@ictuni.org
